

ARTiculation Conference and Final

Clare College, University of Cambridge

Saturday 3 March 2012, 10.30am – 4pm

This day is designed to develop sixth form students' interest in looking at and talking about art and architecture whilst offering them an insight into university life.

Dr Frank Salmon, Head of Department, History of Art at the University of Cambridge will be giving this year's introductory lecture 'Getting the Measure of Antiquity'. The day's programme will also include tours of gallery and college art collections as well as the University's famous architecture led by current undergraduates and a short question and answer session on university admissions chaired by Dr Abigail Harrison-Moore from the University of Leeds.

Student delegates and their teachers will be joined by invited guests of the University of Cambridge and The Roche Court Educational Trust for a complimentary lunch provided by Clare College.

ARTiculation Prize regional winners will be taking part in the competition final during the afternoon, to be judged by the award winning television news and current affairs presenter Jon Snow.

Schools do not have to take part in the competition to attend the day

There is no charge for this event but a cancellation fee of £10 per place, to cover administrative and hospitality costs, will be charged if cancellations occur less than 24 working days prior to the event.

Early booking recommended.
